DIGESTS OF CURRENT THEATRE REVIEWS

Arabian Nights-Jones Beach 6/23...Second edition of Guy Lombardo's outdoor spectacle was enjoyed by most of the NY drama critics. Funke, Times, praised all concerned for a fine job. A visual tone poem surprisingly massive in its total effect, summed up Beckley, Herald Tribune. Huge show was even better than first year, okays McHarry, News. Coleman, Mirror, lauded it as a titanic gigantic show tighter than first edition. Except for poor job turned in by Lauritz Melchior, Winston, Post, agreed with his colleagues on the spectacle aspects of show. O'Connor, Journal American, and Levinson, World Telegram, were both so moved that they filed their pro notices in the style of Arabian Nights.

Almost Crazy-Longacre-6/20...Iams, News, enjoyed most of new revue presented by John S Cobb, but felt it would have been better if certain of the sketches had been cut. Rest of critics were not as kind. Though most okayed singing of Babe Hines, and the impersonations of Kay Medford, they found little original in songs or sketches. To Kerr, Herald Tribune, the evening seemed more like an audition than a show. Several critics, McClain, Journal American included, hoped that some day Kay Medford would get the fine part she deserves. The revue never jells, adds Herridge, Post.

SUMMER TRYOUTS REVIEWED

Sacrifice to the Winds, John Whiting's adaption of Andre Obey's new play tried at Lucille Lortel's White Barn, Westport, Conn, was approved by Coleman, Mirror... 3 Tennessee Williams plays presented at Lake Hopatcong, N. J. are fascinating and well acted vignettes about 2 lovers, approves Herridge, Post... Mother Was a Bachelor presented at Westport, Conn, is not strong enough for theatre, but might be okay as take-off for a TV series, pans Bone, Variety.

Legit theatre tax may be cut to 5% if Rep T. H. McDonald(D-Mass) bill to cut admission taxes to "fine arts events" passes this session. Bill would also okay federal aid to states to set up and aid theatre and other cultural projects.

DEPARTMENT

BUSSES -ON & OFF... Theatres in nearby shopping areas, with a bus set up to get New Yorkers to them, were suggested by Watt, News... Legit needs a few more people like Theatre Tours' Alex Cohen to give it the tonic that will make it flex its muscles again, states Coleman, Mirror.

COLUMN TIPS... Karen Anders of Almost Crazy hocked everything she owned to raise $$$ for show, reports Winchell... Howard Hughes said to be interested in producing a Broadway musical, hears Walker... Hollywood may do a biography of John Golden, notes Gardner.

TV EXPERIMENT... NBC TV production of Skin of Our Teeth a few days after all-star revival closes on Broadway may be a painful experiment, explains Variety editorial. Show on Broadway is a doubtful box office hit during the summer. Plus chances of seeing entire show for free on TV may really hurt business.

DRAMA MAIL BAG... Critics failed in 1939 in not approving Mornings At Seven, pans Times reader... How does C. D. rate Can-Can as 100% Pro asks legit press agent Richard Maney. Records show critics filled unanimous mild pro notices for musical, and outright raves for "newcomer" Gwen Verdon.

CRITICAL THOUGHTS... Broadway managers may argue that Shakespeare plays are not commercial, but the public is proving them wrong, notes Coleman, Mirror... Modern directors have inherited a staggering series of left over jobs that other theatre workers do not want to do, names Kerr, Herald Tribune... Broadway presents finest and widest range of shows seen for years this summer, details O'Connor, Journal American... Next season promises to be the best in 12 years, adds, Coleman, Mirror.

TRICKS PANNED... Designing and directing tricks in theatre which take away from the play itself were condemned by Burr, Playbill. Designers and directors must measure their worth by the successful self obliteration of their art.

PROS & CONS BY T. M. K.

Mornings At Seven presents a perfect cast in a delightfully drawn comedy on mores of small town life. Cast and author understand each character and each action. It is a delight to see such perfection in the theatre.

La Ronde is an exercise in tricky playwriting that makes for dull play-going. Acting in 10 sequences is uneven, with only Betty Miller liking like a professional (actress, that is.) The rest of the cast played show ala clean burlesque. Usual high quality of Circle production was forgotten by all concerned.

OFF

BROADWAY

Theatre 12, which has installed an air conditioning system at Provincetown where they are presenting The Trial, will follow with Turgenev's A Month in the Country, later this summer... Tempo Theatre's next production will be Jean Cocteau's The Typewriter due July 26... 4th St Theatre will open in the fall with Helge Krog's Break Up... Pantomime Art Theatre is presenting weekend performances at Rooftop Theatre, 111 E. Houston.

Morning's At Seven won five unanimous votes from NY critics for Proscenium Productions revival at Cherry Lane. Cast includes June Walker, Dorrit Kelton, Kate Harrington, Atkinson, Times, found that Paul Osborn's script is still an original portrait of human folly. Play was presented for short run in 1939 on Broadway, but was picked by Burns Mantle as one of Best Plays of season. Kerr, Herald Tribune, found it a delight for the collector of theatrical miniatures. Watts, Post, agreed with most of reviewers who applauded each of nine actors for perfect jobs. McClain, Journal American, okayed it as off Broadway fare well down, but thought the play was still too slim for uptown.

La Ronde presented at Circle in Square won 2 pro notices from Times and WT&S aisle-sitters and a trio of mild cons from Herald Tribune, Post and Journal American men. Funke, Times, admitted ten scene play tended to be repetitious, but thought it always presented a fascinating picture. Levinson, WT&S, enjoyed it completely. Con side okayed some of acting, but thought format made it pretty dull going. O'Connor, Journal American, summed up the idea by saying it is not a good bad play.

THEATRE

BOOK COMMENTS

"Who could ask for Anything More" by Ethel Merman, as told to Pete Martin (Doubleday) was okayed by Down, Variety as fast, fun that achieves a truly dimensional portrait of its fascinating subject.

"America Takes the Stage" by Richard Moody(Indiana U. Press) makes fine reading, approves Variety mugg. It also serves as a handy guide to the immediate and all-too easily lost part of our theatre.

COMMENTS

"3 for Tonight" presented on CBS TV the week after closing on Broadway was cheered by NY TV critics. One of TV's most exciting and beguiling evenings, raved Gould, Times. Show had talent, technique and a certain bravado, but lacked audience warmth, noted Van Horne, WT&S. Diverting TV entertainment, added Chan, Variety, but it somehow lacked universal appeal.
